

MICHIGAN CELEBRATION OF WOMEN IN COMPUTING

MICWIC 2017 Call for Participation MARCH 31 – APRIL 1, 2017 ○ ○ ○ EAST LANSING, MI

The 6th Biennial Michigan Celebration of Women in Computing (MICWIC 2017) welcomes participation by all who are interested in advancing the fields of computing and information technology through broadening diversity. Join us for presentations, panel discussions, a poster session, and career exploration. Students will network with computing professionals and peers at other Michigan colleges and universities and learn about rewards of careers in computing fields. Educators and IT professionals will meet and mentor the coming generation, expand their own networks of professional contacts, and learn what their peers are doing in industry. A Career Fair on April 1 will feature both regional and national companies and many Michigan colleges and universities.

MICWIC 2017 will be held on the Michigan State University campus Friday March 31 and Saturday April 1. See the conference website (<http://www.micwic.org/>) for more information on registration and the conference's agenda.
